FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1886.

The Dominion Parliament was prorogued on the 2nd inst.

A Royal Commission has been appointed to enquire into Indian Department affairs in the Northwest.

A Bill providing for the representation of the Northwest Territories in the Dominion Parliament has passed the House of Lords, and is now before the Imperial House of Commons.

Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill was defeated on its second reading by a majority of 30. What course he will adopt in this emergency remains to be seen, but he will doubtless dissolve the House and appeal to the country.

Preparations are being made in Manitoba and the Northwest, along the C. P. R., for the reception of Sir John Macdonald, who will pass through about the latter part of this month on his way to Victoria, B.C. It is a pity the Premier cannot find it convenient to take a trip up the Big Saskatchewan as far as Edmonton, and thus become acquainted with the Saskatchewan country which is by far the most valuable portion of the great Northwest. But as we cannot have the pleasure of a visit from him we will have to content ourselves with wishing him an honorable voyage.

THE TOWN AND DISTRICT OF PRINCE ALBERT.

Like Edmonton, St. Albert and other points in the far north and west, Prince Albert district has its history. Though not quite so old nor so far removed from civilization as the former settlements, still its founders, and its early settlers had to contend with the same disadvantages, had to overcome the same obstacles, which beset the paths of their brother pioneers farther west.

In 1866, just twenty years ago, the late Rev. James Nesbit, a Presbyterian missionary, accompanied by a party of men, arrived at this point. An H. B. Post had been established some time previous, and Rev. Mr. Nesbit was to establish a Mission in connection with the Presbyterian Church, which he succeeded in doing. As the years crowded on, and as settlers commenced pouring into Manitoba, and there was a prospect that the tide of emigration would flow beyond the western borders of the then small Province, many of the settlers of Kildonan, and French halfbreeds from St. Boniface, as also many Canadians, came and settled in this district and vicinity. Thus slowly but surely the country increased in population and importance from a community of half a dozen white men, in 1866, to one of over seven thousand souls in 1886. It is not necessary to depict as we might, the hardships which the early pioneers underwent. Those who have had any experience of Northwest life have a good idea of what they must have suffered. Their history is but a repetition of that of the early pioneers of Canada with this difference, of course, that the latter had a different class of Indians to deal with, and the narrative of their struggles is filled with carnage and death and constant terror. Had the Northwest tribes been of a bloodthirsty disposition, had they looked upon the whiteman as the eastern tribes did, we would not to-day, we think, be writing this brief sketch of the rise and progress of Prince Albert district.

From a community, then, of half a dozen white men twenty years ago, we have grown to one of over 7,000 at the present time. All the religious denominations are represented; we have a college, convent, a high and public schools, mills of all kinds, brick yards, and every branch of the mercantile interest is represented by men of means and enterprise. Our private residences, brick and frame, compare favorably with the best in any place west of Brandon, and many of them would do honor to Winnipeg. We have the regular public offices with resident officials, with but one exception—a permanent Judge—but we are happy to believe that it will not be long before this grievance will cease to exist and we can point with pardonable pride to the new Courthouse in course of erection in support of our belief.

Last year Prince Albert was incorporated, and though we cannot give the exact figures of the assessor yet, still we think we do not far exceed them when we state that the assessed value of real and personal property in the town cannot be far short of $425,000, and the population in the neighbourhood of 600. It must be remembered, too, that the town does not include the college and surrounding buildings on the west nor Moore & Macdowell's mill on the east.

This then, is our position to-day, what is the outlook? Shall the town and district continue to develop, or not? Whether it does or not depends mainly on our own efforts. As it is to-day we have a town population of about 600, and a farming community of about 6,600, the one dependent on the other. But besides the farming community, from which we buy and to which we sell, we have had stationed here for some time about 100 Mounted Police, in connection with the maintenance of which between $70,000 and $100,000 a year is expended, and by which outlay town and country are mutually benefited. But rumor has it that we are about to lose the Police, that the barracks is to be built elsewhere, and the signs of the times would seem to strengthen its correctness. The question then arises, can we afford to lose the Police, and are we not entitled to the new police barracks? Are we not, by virtue of the heroism of our early settlers, by virtue of our enterprise, by virtue of our population and commercial importance, by virtue of the great progress we have made in the face of stupendous difficulties, entitled to the new police barracks? If not, if the Government, which can make or break us almost at will, think otherwise, and erect the barracks at Battleford, then it will be estimating the labors of the early pioneers of this place at a low value, and will serve rather to discourage than encourage the people of the settlement. But we have no fears however. Influences may be at work to build up another town to the south to the detriment of this place, but we think the Government, if our claims are properly put before them, will, instead of punishing us for our enterprise, by bonusing a rival town, rather encourage us to increased exertions in the direction of developing this district by locating the new police barracks in, or close by the Town of Prince Albert.

But though the permanent police barracks should be granted to us if we would continue to prosper we must have railway communication. At present there are three railways branching off from the C. P. R. in a northwesterly direction, one from Portage la Prairie, one from Brandon and one from Regina. The objective point of the former is not definitely known, while that of the Northwest Central is Battleford. The Regina and Long Lake Railway will soon be completed to and traffic commenced between the Lake and Regina, and the work of construction will still continue northward along the Lake shore. The objective point of this railway is not known, and though there are some people in this district who decline to have Prince Albert at one end of a railway and Regina at the other, we think that the great majority of the people are quite content to have railway communication with the outside world even by way of the capital of the Northwest. At all events this railway seems to us to afford the speediest means of escape from our isolated position, that is, admitting that Prince Albert should be its proposed terminus and its promoters have the necessary financial strength to complete it. As matters stand, however, we would seem to be left out in the cold by the whole three.

THE LORNE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

A large and representative meeting of the directors of the Lorne Agricultural Society was held at Oram's on Friday last. The principal business of the meeting was to arrange a prize list for the fall show and determine what should be done with the handsome solid silver cup, costing £20 ($100) donated on behalf of the Hudson's Bay Company by the Hon. L. Clarke, Honorary Patron of the Society.

After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, it was moved and unanimously carried, that a cordial vote of thanks be tendered the Hon. L. Clarke for the donation and the very warm interest he has taken in the welfare of the Society.

The disposal of the cup was next discussed, the claims of the different branches of the agricultural industry being well represented and ventilated.

Mr. Van Laven advocated that the cup be awarded for a general exhibit.

Capt. Hoey and Mr. Chas. Robertson advocated stock, as coming by them to be one of the most beneficial objects that such a valuable prize could be given for as the importing of a few thoroughbred bulls into the district—now that we have a herd law—would be of incalculable value to the farmers in improving their stock.

The grain interest was very clearly put forward by Mr. Thos. F. Miller, who was ably seconded by Mr. J. C. Mc Niven, who, in a very forcible manner, convinced the directors present that grain was the most suitable agricultural display to award such an elegant cup for.

It was then moved by Mr. Thos. F. Miller, seconded by Capt. Craig, that the Hudson's Bay Company's cup be awarded for the best collection of grain, consisting of fifteen bushels of wheat, (any variety), ten bushels of oats, (white or black), and ten bushels of barley, and that it be won three out of five years to enable the winner to permanently possess the winner each year to receive a medal as a proof of having won the prize.

The motion was carried by a majority of one.

The meeting decided in case there was no competition the awarding of a prize be left to the judges.

Thos. F. Miller, James Thompson, W. Paxton, J. McKeen, Geo. Glastier, the President and Secretary were appointed a committee to draw out the general prize list, and they expect to have it printed and distributed this month. Farmers wishing to do six special prizes should kindly hand them to the Secretary with an entry without delay.

Capt. Craig proposed, and Mr. John Stewart seconded a motion that the meeting recognize the delegates that are being sent from the Town Council as the representatives also of this Society, and that the President and Secretary be appointed a committee to draw out a resolution conveying the mind and intentions of the meeting, and put the same into the hands of the delegates, authorizing them to bring the same before the Government at Ottawa without delay. Carried unanimously.

The committee having met, agreed to place before the Government in the strongest light possible, the unanimous feeling of all the settlers of the district, whether members of the Society or not, that the police barracks, which it is understood the Government contemplate erecting in the Saskatchewan District, should be located at or quite near to the Town of Prince Albert, the reasons for this feeling being that the said Town is the centre of population and wealth of the whole district; that the oldest settlers in the Saskatchewan district are located here, have done much hard pioneer work, and are therefore entitled to every consideration; that there is no doubt here a large number of men who have, at much outlay, built places of business and formed important connections all around; that during the late rebellion it was quite evident to every one that the whole surrounding population on the approach of danger immediately moved into Prince Albert as the natural point for obtaining protection; that those people still look to the town in the same way and would regard any arrangements which would tend to their withdrawal of the Police, or the bulk of them, from this place as naturally injuring the sense of security for their persons and property which they consider themselves entitled to expect from the Government of the country; the committee request the delegates to impress upon the Government the fact that for several years in succession the farmers of the district have been struggling against a series of adverse circumstances which could neither be foreseen nor prevented, and that the inauguration or rather extension of the system of purchasing supplies directly from the producers last winter by the N. W. M. P. gave the farmers the greatest satisfaction and indeed hopes of a future steady market and better times, which the Government grant of seed grain greatly encouraged. The proposal therefore to locate the bulk of the Police at a distance from Prince Albert is discouraging in the highest degree, and it is sincerely hoped it will not be carried into effect.

WM. MILLER, President.
WM. CRAIG, Vice-President.
J. STANARD, Director.
A. H. CLARK, Secretary.

Mr. Markley, the town assessor, handed in his report at the last meeting of the Council. From it we learn that the value of real property is $196,140, value of buildings, $150,000, taxable personal property other than income, $91,805, taxable income, $3,890, and the population as far as his report could show, 500, but it cannot be less than 600. It took Mr. Markley and an assistant six weeks to make the assessment, for which the Council agreed to pay him $150.00. With regard to taxable income, it must be understood that only those who wish to be assessed for income were assessed.

The case of the Queen v. W. C. Ramsay, on a charge of indecent assault, was tried before His Honor Judge Richardson on Wednesday. After hearing the evidence for the prosecution the Judge dismissed the case without calling upon the defendant for rebutting evidence.

On the same day Mr. Ramsay swore an information for perjury against the principal witness in the case, Mrs. Jane Hourie. The latter was brought up before Capt. Craig, J. P., on Friday last, who, after the examination of witnesses and hearing counsel for Mr. Ramsay, found that while Mrs. Hourie had certainly sworn falsely in the case, it having been proved that it was impossible her evidence could be correct, yet it was not clear she had done so wilfully or maliciously, and so giving her the benefit of the doubt, she was dismissed with an admonition.
